SEQUENCES

Diane, depressed, disturbed, masturbates. Hallucination leads to gun-related suicide.	Diane, dressed for a party (or for part-time work), receives Camilla's phone call adjacent to a red-lampshade. Diane accepts the offer of a ride to Mulholland Dr.	Diane Selwyn, strung out, sits in 'Winkys' showing a death-dealing man a photo of Camilla. "This is the girl." A waitress called Betty serves. The blue key is pre-displayed.	Diane helps a brunette neighbour collect some items, sees blue key.
Diane witnesses Camilla and Adam together, once more. Camilla does not drink with Diane. Diane realises Adam has introduced Camilla to his mother, Coco.	Coco draws Diane out, after dinner, who relates her backstory, mentioning her Aunt, and reliance on Camilla for work. Wilkins is unhelpful.	Blue-haired woman says 'Silencio.'	Diane sees the Bum, sees herself united with a blonde Camilla.
Diane witnesses Adam and Camilla close, speaking Spanish, smoking. Adam prepares to announce...	The ride is cut short; Camilla appears and personally leads Diane up a garden path, to discover she has been delaying a dinner party. (Did Diane know beforehand?)	Diane Selwyn, struggling actress, witnesses Adam Keshner liasing with Camilla Rhodes, rising star, on-set.	Diane is given the 'SOS' espresso, sees Badalamenti. Diane sees the 'Cowboy' ducking out.

CHRONOLOGICAL

Diane's final three weeks

When Diane answers the door, the neighbor says "Come on, Diane. It's been three weeks." If this sets a reference to a switch that took place three weeks ago, is there sufficient time for events in Diane's flashbacks (bar the convertible scene) to take place well within that time frame?

Conjecture:

Day 1	For some reason Diane switches apartments with her neighbor. Part of the neighbor's dishes, a lamp and an ashtray are still with Diane.
Day 3	Camilla is shown around Diane's new residence, but gets evicted after dispute. Broken-hearted Diane starts to hide in her apartment.
Day 5	Diane receives Camilla's phone call to join Adam's party. At the party Diane learns about their wedding plans.
Day 6	Consumed by rage and jealousy Diane decides to have Camilla killed and seeks for a hitman.
Day 10	Diane has found Joe and they arrange an appointment.
Day 11	Diane meets Joe at Winkie's to settle the hit.
Day 14	Diane finds the key indicating that Camilla has been offed, she starts to feel remorse, retreats into #17.
Day 15	The detectives come by #12 respectively #17... but can't track Diane down. Later the neighbor informs Diane. Diane feels trapped. Her mental instability increases day by day. The detective might be coming for her over and over again. She holes up inside #17.
Day 19	Diane is a psycho-wreck, taking sedatives/drugs, falls asleep. Memories of occurrences and people around her most recent encounters at Winkie's and the pool party filter into her dream.
Day 20	Detectives return to Sierra Bonita. Later the neighbor wakes Diane to get her stuff and drops another line about the cops. Diane is losing it, having flashbacks/hallucinations. Tormented by demons she shoots herself.
